

STEAMY: Cheats' city

Bath is 'affairs capital'

THE cheating capital of the UK is posh Bath in Somerset, a survey claims.

Bath has 6.89% of the population of 90,000 cheats. In second place was Chester with 6.88% and third place went to Brighton with 6.87%.

The most faithful town was Bolton, with less than 1% cheating, followed by Craigavon in Northern Ireland at 0.37% and Birkenhead in Merseyside on 0.46%.

Jessica Leoni, of affairs site IllicitEncounters.com, which carried out the poll, said: "We have enjoyed the busiest year in our history with women in particular looking to start afresh."

STAR FOOTBALLER
Gareth Bale is opening his own 9-hole golf course - inside a nightclub. "Par 59" is set to open in the centre of his home city of Cardiff.

BURST

PROBE: Priti Patel

Spiking by jabs 'on rise'

POLICE have been asked to investigate spiking at clubs and bars amid a rise in reports of people being drugged by injection.

Home Secretary Priti Patel has asked police chiefs to report back to her as a matter of urgency with up-to-date information on "physical spiking".

Student Zara Owen, 19, from Surrey, has told how she suffered total memory loss after a night out.

Zara, a student at the University of Nottingham, said: "I know I didn't drink as much as I usually would on a night out that night."

The next day she found a pin prick in her leg and reported it to police.

A ROAR DEAL FOR LION CUB

★ A HUNGRY lion cub roars at a camera after mistaking it for a tasty snack.

The cub played with the remote-controlled device before becoming annoyed by it.

★ Priyanshi Nahata, 34, took the snap in the Maasai Mara National Reserve in Kenya.

She said: "Because of its hunger, I think he thought the camera was something to be eaten."

BRUECKNER 'GOT HIS KICKS FROM TERROR'

MISSING: Madeleine

Pal says Maddie suspect into torture

THE prime suspect in Madeleine McCann's disappearance had a fetish for dangerous situations, a pal has told police.

And he claimed convicted paedophile Christian Brueckner told him: "I like to see catastrophe situations. I need dangerous situations."

The unnamed mate said Brueckner told him he took pleasure from torturing, was attracted to children and

by JERRY LAWTON, Chief Crime Correspondent would kill a person "faster than an animal". The revelations are in case files German police have compiled about Brueckner's alleged involvement in Madeleine's disappearance.

The three-year-old vanished from a holiday apartment in Praia da Luz in Portugal's Algarve in 2007.

German prosecutors recently shared evidence against Brueckner with Portuguese detectives, who they are meeting this week to decide how to proceed with the investigation.

Brueckner, 44, is currently serving a seven-year jail sentence for raping a 72-year-old woman in the same resort from which Madeleine vanished. He claims he had no involvement in her disappearance.

PAEDO: Brueckner